SOME CLEAN-UP SUGGESTIONS.

Here is what you should do and should not do to make the clean-up thorough:

Have all rubbish placed in receptacles which can be readily handled and dumped in wagons quickly.

Compress as much as possible all rubbish and reduce its bulk to the minimum.

Start early and have all rubbish in receptacles ready for the collection wagon.

Place the receptacles at or near the place you usually place garbage for collection. Interest your neighbors, and all work to accomplish the same purpose. Clean up. Don't cause rubbish to be placed

DRAG ROADS WHEN MOIST.

Engineer Gearhart of Kansas Gives Suggestions to Get Best Results.

The roads should be dragged when they are in condition to be puddled, says W. S. Gearhart, Kansas state highway engineer. If a sample of moist earth is taken from a traveled part of a road of gumbo, clay or black prairie soil, it will be found practically impervious to water. This earth is what clay workers call puddled. The road has been worked by the carriage wheels and animal hoofs until the traveled part of the highway is covered with a sticky, impervious earth. This puddled earth is full of holes, which in turn are full of water that cannot escape.

It is a matter of observation, moreover, that this puddled earth when compressed and dry becomes extremely hard. Upon these two things-the imperviousness of puddled earth and its hardness when dry-rests all the theory of road dragging. When the road drag is properly used, says Mr. Gearhart, the surface of the road is covered with a layer of impervious soil. After a few draggings the road becomes harder and smoother so that the effect of rain is hardly noticeable.

Unfortunately for Kansas, the roads in the state are not usually dragged at the time when they will become puddled. Just because traffic will make ruts in a newly dragged road, the roads are left until they become dry. If the roads are dragged when dry the drag merely levels the road. It does not help it.

Here are some suggestions which are offered by Engineer Gearhart to the man who drags the road: Drag the road as soon after a rain as possible.

Do not drag a dry road.

Ride on the drag.

Use a light drag and haul it over the road at an angle of 45 degrees. If the drag is cutting too much, shorten the hitch.

The driver can control the amount of earth that the drag will carry along by standing near or away from the cutting edge.

When the roads are first dragged after a muddy spell, the wagons should drive to one side until the roads have a chance to get partly dry.

Repeated applications will give the best results.

BRITON DESTROYER DASHES UP STRAITS

Torpedo Boat Penetrates Dardanelles Gver Ten Miles,

London, April 14.-Reuter's Tenedos correspondent says:

"The British torpedo boat destroyer Renard entered the Dardanelles on a scouting mission and ran up the straits at high speed for over ten penetrating the waters probably farther than any of the British ships have yet done. A heavy fire was directed at it, but the destroyer was not hit. The Brit'sh battleship London, which followed the Renard into the straits, drew most of the enemy's fire. The batteries on the As'atic side, especially the howitzers behind Erenkeui, were active, but those on the European side were quiet. Possibly the Turks have withdrawn part of their artillery on the Euro pean side in order to be able to mass it quickly at any spot the allied army may choose for a landing. The bat-tery bombarded by the Triumph ap-parently is permanently out of action."

Would Improve Roads. ville. It was broached by C. B. Belwho first spoke of the good words the Clarinda, Ia., Commercial cub had for the Maryville organization. He then spoke of the need for better roads directly adjacent to Mary-

It was he who suggested the proposition, which finally carried, though amended, to raise a fund of $1,000 or more for dragging the ten roads leading out of Maryville for five months of the year, for a distance of two miles from the end of the city pavements.

To do this, S. H. Kemp moved the appointment of a committee of five members by the new Commercial club president, with C. D. Bellows as chairman. It is proposed that the improvement of the roads be accomplished by the use of two drags drawn by two teams, and also by the use of a scraper where that would be more beneficial. City Streets Worse, One Says.

Others who spoke relative to the necessity for better roads leading into the city were Senator Anderson Craig, who told of the state assistance of $15 2 cans Yellow Free Peaches per mile for certain roads; W. O. Garrett, who dwelt on the fact that som streets of the city are in worse condition than the rural roads; E. H. Bainum, S. H. Kemp, Mayor U. S. Fern to Portray Heavyweight Champ on Screen-Lew Fields Also.

Two mighty good features are due at the Fern theatre within the next month, the first coming April 26, with Lew Fields in "Old Dutch." The other added attraction of the Vanderbilt cup races held at San Francisco recently, also will be portrayed then.

Two weeks later, or May 10, the big one will come. It is the one-reel feature "The Heart Punch," with Jesse Willard, the new world's heavyweight champion posing. This film has been made so as not to conflict with federal laws prohibiting prize fighting pictures

It shows him in his training scenes, shadow boxing, and in a sensational two-round contest ending with a knockout by Willard exactly similar to the one he administered to Jack Johnson at Havanna.

Bombardment of Matamoras

The long expected bombardment of Matamoras, Mex., by Villa artillery is on and the direction of fire and comparative accuracy of the marks manship brought distinct relief from fears for the safety of Brownsville.

One three-inch field piece opened the bombardment and later a second gun joined in. The cannon were hid in the bushes about a mile and a half from the trenches west of Mata-moras. The first few shells were too high, some of them passing completely over Matamoras before exploding.

The direction of the fire was such that no matter how far the cannon overshot the shells would not carry into Brownsville. After a few minutes the Villa artillerymen got the range dropping several shells near the

CHICKEN VS. GARDEN NOW ON.

Farmers Now Reaching Active Stage.

The case of Chicken vs. Garden, which has been in the court of the people ever since chickens and gardens were invented, is again being discussed, now that chickens are beginwell as women camp followers. The ning to range abroad and gardeners wounded, it was stated, were bay to delve in the earth again. One man relates an experience he had last summer.

His newly made garden was torn up several times by a neighbor's biddies. and he made complaint politely asking that the chickens be restrained. He was coolly told to fence his garden up!

Another man who was pestered by chicken visitors to his garden last last night from a visit of several days summer has strung a lot of grains of in St. Joseph.

corn for this spring. To each string he has attached a bit of cardboard, Fight of Poultry and Would-Be Town and on these has written such mottoes as.

> "Keep your derned old chickens at home.

> "Give my garden liberty or I'll give your chickens death.'

> "This time a tag; next time a 22caliber bullet "

"Bullets for pullets-next."

He believes that by the time his neighbors have read a few of these mottoes suspended from their chickens' bills it will dawn upon them that their poultry has been raising the deuce in Friend Neighbor's sass patch and they will act accordingly.

Sunday Service

It would pay us better on a dollar basis to shut down our plant on Sunday as we do not carry enough load throughout the day to pay for the coal we consume. We have no intention however of discontinuing this service because we feel it is our duty to furnish that service even at a monetary loss. DRAG ROADS WHEN MOIST.

Engineer Gearhart of Kansas Gives Suggestions to Get Best Results.

The roads should be dragged when they are in condition to be puddled, says W. S. Gearhart, Kansas state highway engineer. If a sample of moist earth is taken from a traveled part of a road of gumbo, clay or black prairie soil, it will be found practically impervious to water. This earth is what clay workers call puddled. The road has been worked by the carriage wheels and animal hoofs until the traveled part of the highway is covered with a sticky, impervious earth. This puddled earth is full of holes which in turn are full of water that cannot escape

It is a matter of observation, moreover, that this puddled earth when compressed and dry becomes extremely hard. Upon these two things-the imperviousness of puddled earth and its hardness when dry-rests all the theory of road dragging. When the road drag is properly used, says Mr. Gearhart, the surface of the road is covered with a layer of impervious soil. After a few draggings the road becomes harder and smoother so that the effect of rain is hardly noticeable

Unfortunately for Kansas, the roads in the state are not usually dragged at the time when they will become puddled. Just because traffic will make ruts in a newly dragged road, the roads are left until they become dry. If the roads are dragged when dry the drag merely levels the road. It does not help it.

Here are some suggestions which are offered by Engineer Gearhart to the man who drags the road:

Drag the road as soon after a rain as possible.

Do not drag a dry road. Ride on the drag.

Use a light drag and haul it over the road at an angle of 45 degrees. If the drag is cutting too much, shorten the hitch. The driver can control the amount of earth that the drag will carry along by standing near or away from the cutting edge.

When the roads are first dragged after a muddy spell, the wagons should drive to one side until the roads have a chance to get partly dry.

Repeated applications will give the best results.

It was he who suggested the proposition, which finally carried, though amended, to raise a fund of $1,000 or more for dragging the ten roads leading out of Maryville for five months of the year, for a distance of two miles from the end of the city pavements.

Fern to Portray Heavyweight Champ on Screen-Lew Fields Also.

Two mighty good features are due at the Fern theatre within the next month, the first coming April 26, with Lew Fields in "Old Dutch." The other added attraction of the Vanderbilt cup races held at San Francisco recently, also will be portrayed then.

Two weeks later, or May 10, the big one will come. It is the one-reel feature "The Heart Punch," with Jesse Willard, the new world's heavyweight champion posing. This film has been made so as not to conflict with federal laws prohibiting prize fighting pictures

It shows him in his training scenes, shadow boxing, and in a sensational two-round contest ending with a knockout by Willard exactly similar to the one he administered to Jack Johnson at Havanna.

It would pay us better on a dollar basis to shut down our plant on Sunday as we do not carry enough load throughout the day to pay for the coal we consume. We have no intention however of discontinuing this service because we feel it is our duty to furnish that service even at a monetary loss. First, because the people are entitled to have the light or power at any hour of the day or night they desire and second because twentyfour hour service with us means continuous service whenever it is within our power to furnish it.
